Turn on Wifi or be sure to have a data plan.- Don't forget to scroll down the list to find and select your language IOS14 compatibility bug correction I love this game, but there are a few things that need to really be looked at. One: random logging out, this program will randomly log players out during questions. Sometimes if the player log back in he or she can finish the game but most of the time he or she has to start over. To: as a blind player of this game, all the buttons are not labeled properly so the voiceover screen reader app for Apple products does not read everything. Sometimes the questions that you are asked are repeated, just worded differently. New category suggestions: books, movies and TV shows, Music, geography, and historical events. My brother told me about this game, said it was fun. I was busy playing Skyrim when I downloaded it on my phone. So I start guessing characters from the game, all is good, I get some gold medals, and even a black one. Then, when I try to guess Wujeta from Riften Docks, I get some other argonian, but I said yes because the is literally nothing to distinguish them differently. Then I get a message saying that I "answered randomly and this is your first warning". I get upset because it wasn't true, and I also have no clue as to what I did, my character is quite specific to land on her randomly would be extremely difficult. So then I try again, same character, and this time I actually land on her, and guess what? Another "rejected Aki award". But this time, the game wants to be funny, and knock me down from 23 to 1895 in the ranking. I have not owned this game for even thirty minutes yet, I literally only have 9 medals, but I will not play a game that punishes it's players for playing the game right. It was fun up to that point. My advice if you still want to play, don't guess characters that other people wouldn't think of, otherwise the game will think your cheating. My biggest problem with Akinator is that he never asks the correct questions, and the only way to help change the questions is by making it guess the character which you can't do if the character has simulator traits to another. I tried many times to get him to guess Leon from the new released game Brawl Stars yet it keeps guessing characters from sub way surfers or other games like that. And the game makes it so ONLY if Akinator is correct on his first guess you get the coins so I always click yes unless it's a character I guessed before and sometimes something pops up that says "cheat" and I will lose points or something if I keep saying yes to people which makes me think sometimes it knows what my character is but it gives me another random character to see if I'll say yes to it. It still is a good game but they need to fix some things. Maybe make it so if Akinator isn't correct and he needs another chance you still can get coins for him not guessing your character the first time.
